

Contents

Acknowledgements and Dedication	xi
Maps, Illustrations, Figures, and Sidebars	xii
Abbreviations	xvii
1. The Nature of Wisdom and Its Practitioners	1
Defining Wisdom	3
The Semantic Domain of Wisdom	16
Two Broad Kinds of Wisdom	19
Who Were the Sages?	20
2. The World and Worldview of the Wise: An Anthropological Approach	31
Geography and Climate of Ancient Palestine	32
Israelite Society	40
Economy of Ancient Israel	46
The Ancient Israelite Worldview	55
3. Scribalism in Egypt and Mesopotamia	67
Mesopotamian Scribalism	67
Egyptian Scribalism	90
Summary	109
4. Western Periphery Scribalism	111
The Western Periphery	113
Important Sites	115
The Amarna Letters	133
Canaanite Literature and Mythology	135
Summary	145
5. Israelite Scribalism and the Place of Wisdom Literature within It	147
Writing in the Second Millennium BCE	148
The Emergence of the Alphabet	149
Scribalism and Literacy in Ancient Israel	152
Yoram Cohen and Late Bronze Age Wisdom Literature	173
Paul-Alain Beaulieu and Babylonian Wisdom Literature	178
The Place of Wisdom Literature within the Israelite Scribal Curriculum	179
Conclusion	181

6. The Wisdom Corpus as a Mode of Literature	183
Genres	183
Generic Worlds versus Worldviews	186
Biblical Genres and Their Social Setting	192
The Elusive Nature of Genres	199
The Instability of Genres	203
Economy of Genres	206
Conclusion	215
7. The Poetics, Axiology, and Rhetoric of Wisdom Literature	217
Wisdom Literature as Poetry	218
What is Hebrew Poetry?	220
The Aphorism as the Primary Genre of the Wisdom Literature	234
The Weighing of Values: A Structural Approach	235
Disjointed Proverbs	239
Paradoxes	240
The Rhetoric of Wisdom	241
Summary	256
8. Social World of the Sages	259
Honor and Shame in Israelite Society	259
The Social Class of the Sages	286
The Sages as Intellectuals	289
Women and Wisdom	290
Summary	295
9. The Book of Proverbs	297
Structure	297
Clusters and Twice-Told Proverbs	300
Authorship	301
Date	302
Relationship between Proverbs 22:17-24:22 and the Instruction of Amenemope	305
Intended Audience	307
Sub-Genres	307
Demotic Egyptian Sentences	310
Other Special Genres	311
10. The Book of Job	319
Structure	319
Integrity	320
Genre	321
Authorship and Date	328
Job and Popular Culture	329
Ancient Near Eastern Parallels	330

Important Themes	332
Honor and Job	336
God versus Job	337
11. Ecclesiastes	341
Structure	341
Authorship and Audience	346
Date	348
Qohelet's Idiosyncratic Use of Language	349
The Meaning of Hebel	350
Qohelet's Ethical System: Hedging One's Bets	352
Honor and Qohelet	356
Comparative Literature	357
12. Sirach and Sapientia	359
Judaism and Hellenism	360
Ben Sira	363
Wisdom of Solomon or Sapientia	373
13. Wisdom Psalms and the Dead Sea Scroll Wisdom Literature	379
The Outer Limits of the Wisdom Tradition	379
Wisdom Psalms	381
Dead Sea Scroll Wisdom Literature	389
Works Consulted	397
Index	423

