

Contents

Timeline	x
Illustrations	xiii
Preface	xv
Introduction: A Perennial Question	1
Port-au-Prince, Haiti, August 1995	1
Posing a Perennial Question	3
Hannibal, Missouri, March 2003	5
Reading Differently	6
Toward a Contemporary Sachkritik	9
Reading the signs of the times	9
An ideological-critical reading	11
Agreements and divergences	13
The Rhetoric of Romans and the Rhetoric of Rome	16
Rhetorical-critical dead ends	16
Romans as exhortation	19
Reading “voice under domination”	21
1. IMPERIVM: Empire and the “Obedience of Faith”	25
The Battle for Hearts and Minds	25
Winning Hearts and Minds in Ancient Rome	27
The contours of Roman imperial ideology	28
The hidden transcript of the powerful:
The inevitability of rule by force	30
The hidden transcript of the subordinate:
Imperial violence seen from below	33
Currents of protest	34
The Dialectic of Defiance and Caution	36
The public transcript: Contesting the relation of coercion and consent	37
The Public Transcript in Nero’s Rome	40
Winning Hearts and Minds in Romans	44
A call for obedience	44
Beyond Ethnic Tensions	47
Ideological Constraints in Romans	50

2. IVSTITIA: Justice and the Arrogance of Nations	59
Empire and the Crisis of Impunity	59
A “Declaration of War” in Romans	61
The argumentative aspect of Romans 1:3-4	62
Rome, 54 C.E.	65
Nero’s succession in the public transcript	66
Nero’s succession in the hidden transcript of the powerful	68
An alternative offstage transcript: The view from Romans	70
Interpreting Paul’s Gospel: Choosing Sides	72
The justice of God	75
A critique of imperial injustice	77
Justice and the Crisis of Impunity	83
3. CLEMENTIA: Mercy and the Prerogatives of Power	87
The Prerogatives of Power	88
The mercy of the Augustus	89
Death and Taxes	91
Alexandria, 38–41 C.E.	93
Rome, 49 C.E.	96
Rome, 54 C.E.	99
A Warning against Presuming on Mercy (Romans 2–3)	100
Paul’s dialogue with a Judean	101
Diatribes in the apostrophe to the Judean (2:17-24)	103
Diatribes in the Judean’s response (3:1-9)	105
The Manifestation of Mercy in History	107
Israel’s “stumbling”	107
The typological reading of Romans 9–11	111
The Present, the Future, and the Mercy of God	114
A thrown race	117
4. PIETAS: Piety and the Scandal of an Irreligious Race	121
Ancestry, Destiny, and Piety in Roman Perspective	121
Appropriating the iconography of pietas	122
The pietas of Aeneas	125
Abraham “Our Forefather”	128
Abraham’s ancestry from a Judean perspective	130
Using Abraham to think ethnicity	132
The destiny of an “impious” people	134
Abraham as Aeneas’s Rival	136
Piety and “vindication through works”	138

5. VIRTUS: Virtue and the Fortunes of Peoples	143
Virtue at the End of History	143
An apocalyptic logic of dissent	146
An ethic of solidarity	150
The force of ideological constraint in Romans 13:1-7	152
Living at the End of History	157
The ghosts in Romans	159
Epilogue	163
Abbreviations	167
Notes	171
Indexes	216
Ancient Literature	216
Modern Authors	219
Selected Topics	221