

Table of Content

Acknowledgments
Preface:	iv-xii
Chapter 1: Benchmarks of a Pragmatic Theology of African American Religious Experience	1.
Experience and the Grotesque	9.
Pragmatic Naturalism and Religious Experience	18.
Creative Exchange	24.
Chapter 2: A Relational Concept of Race in African American Religious Experience	36.
Race as a Deep Symbol	39.
Two Assessments of Race in Black Philosophy	50.
A Relational Conception of Race in African American Religious Experience	61.
Chapter 3: We See Through a Glass Darkly: Slave Narrative Theology and the Opacity of African American Religious Thought	76.
Black Liberation Theology and Alienated Consciousness	80.
Slave Narratives as a Source of Black and Womanist Theology	90.
The Opacity of Black Religious Knowledge	107.
Chapter 4: Faith on Earth: Suffering and Evil in African American Theology	118.
The Modernist Problematic	122.
Two Recent Account of Suffering and Evil

in Black and Womanist Theology	132.
Faith on Earth: in Defense of Redemption Suffering	146.
Chapter 5: The Smell of life:
A Pragmatic Theology of Religious Experience	163.
Ladyhawke: A Parable	164.
The Inner Witness in Howard Thurman's Phenomenology of Religious Experience	168.
Toward a Pragmatic theology of African American Religious Experience	182.
Pragmatic Theology and the Problem of Prayer	197.
Chapter 6: Home and the Black Church:
Centers of Value in a Pragmatic Theology of African American Religious Experience	208.
Home and Family as a Center of Value	211.
The Black Church as a Center of Value	219.
Centers of Value and Human Fulfillment in Creative Exchange	237.
Concluding Postscript	249.
Select Bibliography	253.
Index	261.