Renewal captures the vitality and diversity of today's religious-environmental activists - who, from within their Christian, Jewish, Buddhist and Muslim traditions - are becoming caretakers of the Earth.

Their stories of combating global warming and the devastation of mountaintop removal, promoting environmental justice, recycling, and land preservation, are the heart of Renewal.

“Our congregation was jump-started for more eco-commitment simply from seeing the video.”

– Rev. Seth Kaper-Dale
Reform Church of Highland Park, NJ

Inspired by the power of Renewal, audiences across the nation are embracing the film as their wake-up-call to environmental action.

“When so many news headlines proclaim the ways that religions divide people, the heroes of our documentary truly celebrate the potential for multi-faith action to unify our communities and the world.”

– Marty Ostrow and
Terry Kay Rockefeller, Producers
