

Table of Contents

Preface

Part One: Ethical Strife and Biblical Norms

1. Survey: The Post-Nazi Recovery of Lutheran Public Responsibility

Ernst Troeltsch Vs. Luther's "Social Conservatism"

Karl Barth Vs. Luther's "Law-Gospel Quietism"

Johannes Heckel Vs. Luther's "Augustinian Dualism"

Reinhold Niebuhr Vs. Luther's "Cultural Defeatism"

2. Ethics: Captive to God's Word

Principles of Biblical Interpretation

Christ Proclaimed in the New Testament

Christ Promised in the Old Testament

Christocentric Biblical Translation

Part Two: The World's Two Kingdoms (God or Satan)

3. Adam and Eve: God's Command of Love

Created in God's Image

Mandated for Life in Community

God's Command before the Law

God's Command after the Law

4. Satan: God's Foe, Human Woe

Fallen Humanity

Law and Gospel

Paul on the Two Ages

Augustine on the Two Cities

Part Three: God's Twofold Rule (Caesar and Christ)

5. Cain and Abel: Law Accuses Before God

Luther on The Two Kingdoms

Law's Theological Function

Sin's Indelible Character

Bondage of Will and Reason

6. Noah and Moses: Law Preserves in Society

The Noachic Covenant

Pauline Natural Law

Mosaic Natural Law

Law's Political Function

7. Jesus Christ: Gospel Justifies before God

Abraham's Righteousness

Reconciled by Christ the Mediator

Redeemed by Christ the Victor

Gospel's Salvific Function

8. Holy Spirit: Gospel Sanctifies in Society

God's Command of Love

Vocational Sanctification

Priesthood of the Baptized

Gospel's Ethical Function

Afterword

Index