

Contributors

Melissa Browning is an assistant professor at Loyola University Chicago's Institute of Pastoral Studies. She is the author of Risky Marriage: HIV and Intimate Relationships in Tanzania (2013).

Gerald C. Liu is assistant professor of Homiletics and Worship Arts at Drew Theological School. He is the author of book chapters and articles concerning Asian American preaching and worship and the interplay between theology and music.

James W. McCarty III received his Ph.D. in Religion, Ethics, and Society from Emory University. He has published peer-reviewed articles in the Journal of the Society of Christian Ethics, Theology and Sexuality, St. John's Law Review, and West Virginia Law Review.

Sarah Morice-Brubaker is assistant professor of Theology at Phillips Theological Seminary. She is the author of The Place of the Spirit: Toward a Trinitarian Theology of Location (2013).

Jacob D. Myers recently completed his Ph.D. at Emory University in homiletics. He has published articles on theology and sexuality, poststructural philosophy, and alternative epistemologies for preaching and worship. He is also co-managing editor for Practical Matters (<http://www.practicalmattersjournal.org/>).

Amy L. B. Peeler is assistant professor of New Testament at Wheaton College. She is a postulant for the priesthood with the Episcopal Church, USA. She is the author of “You Are My Son”: The Family of God in the Epistle to the Hebrews (2014).

Miriam Y. Perkins is associate professor of Theology & Society at Emmanuel Christian Seminary. She is the author of several interdisciplinary articles in theology.

Shanell T. Smith is assistant professor of New Testament and Christian Origins at Hartford Seminary. She is the author of the forthcoming The Woman Babylon and the Marks of Empire: Reading Revelation with a Postcolonial Womanist Hermeneutics of Ambivalence (Fortress).