

Contents

Preface	ix
Introduction	xi
Part I. Approaches in the Christian East
1. The Exegetical Metaphysic of Origen of Alexandria J. A. McGuckin	3
2. A “Doctrine of Scripture” from the Eastern Orthodox Tradition: A Reflection on the Desert Father Saint Sarapion of Thmuis Oliver Herbel	21
3. “He Has Clothed Himself in Our Language”: The Incarnational Hermeneutic of Saint Ephrem the Syrian Matthew Baker	35
4. John Chrysostom on the Nature of Revelation and Task of Exegesis Bradley Nassif	49
5. Barsanuphius, John, and Dorotheos on Scripture: Voices from the Desert in Sixth-Century Gaza Alexis Torrance	67

6.	The Transfiguration of Jesus Christ as “Saturated Phenomenon” and as a Key to the Dynamics of Biblical Revelation in Saint Maximus the Confessor Paul M. Blowers	83
7.	Scripture as Divine Mystery: The Bible in the Philokalia Brock Bingaman	103
Part II. Modern Approaches Inspired by the Fathers
8.	The Bible as Heilsgeschichte : The Basic Axis and Scope of Georges Florovsky’s Neopatristic Synthesis Nikolaos Asproulis	121
9.	The Gospel according to Saint Justin the New: Justin Popović on Scripture Vladimir Cvetkovic	137
10.	Reality and Biblical Interpretation: T. F. Torrance’s Retrieval of Patristic Hermeneutics John Taylor Carr	167
11.	Merely Academic: A Brief History of Modern Biblical Criticism Michael C. Legaspi	181